A black and white illustration. In the upper portion, a person is shown in silhouette, sitting on a grassy bank. The grass is represented by a series of vertical, slightly wavy lines. The person is looking out over a body of water, which is depicted with dark, horizontal, textured strokes. In the foreground, there is a light-colored, irregular shape representing a shoreline or a patch of ground. Three vertical poles or posts are visible in the background, extending from the top edge of the frame. Two speech bubbles are present: one near the person and another in the water.

Hey... It's a new year, right?

Things change

A creepy house

No way! Where?

Yeah
like always, right?

